1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1 and 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Neil et al. Neil et al disclose the claimed structure and method including a watercraft capable of accommodating passengers for travel both on the surface of the water and below the surface of the water including a modular design of a hull compartment 20 and a hull 28.

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 2-7, 28 and 30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Neil et al in view of Tuffier. Neil et al do not disclose bladders. Tuffier teach using four bladders 10 (note Figure 1). It would have been obvious to provide the ballast system of Neil et al with bladders as taught by Tuffier for improved safety.

5. Claims 8, 9, 23-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Neil et al in view of Rougerie. Neil et al do not disclose an engine compartment, an electric motor, and the particular claimed size of the craft and ballast. Rougerie discloses a large craft with an engine compartment including engine 38. It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to form the device of Neil et al with an engine compartment as taught by Rougerie for improved propulsion. Additionally, it would have been an obvious choice of engineering design to form the device with electric motor for low noise, and to form the device of a large size for accommodating more passengers.

6. Claims 13-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Neil et al in view of Forman. Neil et al do not disclose a tubular passenger compartment. Forman teaches a tubular passenger compartment 12. It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to form the device of Neil et al with a tubular passenger compartment as taught by Forman for improved passenger comfort.

7. Claims 10-12, 16-22, and 27 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
